One Great Insight is Worth a Thousand Good Ideas. After much prodding from Todd at 800-CEO-READ, I finally got around to reading Phil Dusenberry's ONE GREAT INSIGHT IS WORTH A THOUSAND GOOD IDEAS (Portfilio). I had shied away from the book because its original cover and title seemed more fluff than substance.

Note 1. These various factors are all equivalent to knowledge in terms of the four noble truths. The relationship between these four truths and the issue of skillful and unskillful action is shown in SN 46.51, which notes that analysis of qualities as a factor for awakening is fed by paying appropriate attention to qualities as to whether they are skillful or unskillful.

Maha-cattarisaka Sutta: The Great Forty - Access to Insight

“Hindsight, I think, is a useless tool. We, each of us, are at a place in our lives because of innumerable circumstances, and we, each of us, have a responsibility (if we do not like where we are) to move along life's road, to find a better path if this one does not suit, or to walk happily along this one if it is indeed our life's way.
